CHARACTER CREATION QUICK-GUIDE

Roll Ability Scores

Roll four six-sided dice (4d6). Discard the lowest die and total the remaining three. Repeat this five more times, and then assign the six numbers to the character's ability scores however you want.

The 6 ability scores are: Strength (STR), Intelligence (INT), Wisdom (WIS), Dexterity (DEX), Constitution (CON), and Charisma (CHR).

Point-Buy Method (Optional)

Some players do not like the randomness that comes with generating ability scores by rolling dice. In place of rolling, each character receives a number of points to spend on increasing his ability scores. In this method, all ability scores start at a base of 9. A character can increase an individual score by spending some of his points. Likewise, he can gain more points to spend on other scores by decreasing one or more of his ability scores. No score can be reduced below 6 or raised above 18 using this method. See the following table for the costs of each score. After all the points are spent, apply any racial modifiers the character might have. Characters have 30 points to spend on increasing ability scores. Average nonplayer characters (NPCs) are typically built using as few as 6 points.

Ability Score Cost

Score	Points	Score	Points
6	-3	13	5
7	-2	14	7
8	-1	15	9
9	0	16	11
10	1	17	13
11	2	18	15

Choose a Race

Select a race that best fits your imagined character concept. In Advanced Dungeons & Dragons, one can choose the versatile human, a long-lived elf, a willful dwarf, a curious gnome, a quick-footed halfling, a forlorn half-elf or a pernicious half-orc. Each race is unique and has its own special abilities, capacities, culture, and personality. Closely examine each race prior to making a selection. In particular, ensure that the race selected does not have cultural or personality characteristics that conflict harshly with the persona of the character you wish to create. Players also need keep in mind that their choice of race may influence their character class options.

Race	Ability Adjustments	Ability Score Limits
Dwarf	CON +1; CHA -1	CON 19; CHA 17
Elf	DEX +1; CON -1	DEX 19; CON 17
Gnome	STR -1; CON +1	STR 17; CON 19
Halfling	STR -1; DEX +1	STR 17; DEX 19
Half-Orc	STR +1; CON +1; CHA -2	STR 19; CON 19; CHA 15

The maximum initial ability scores listed include ability adjustments by race. Unless indicated otherwise on the table above, all ability scores have a limit of 18. Magic may alter ability scores above these values.

Character Class Preference by Race

Class	Character Race
	Dwarf	Elf	Gnome	Half-Elf	Halfling	Half-Orc	Human

Thief	Yes	Yes	Yes	Yes	Yes	Yes	Yes

Character Race shows the seven races of player characters. Reading down each heading gives quick reference as to what classes are typical for characters of each race.

- A "Yes" indicates that a character of that race prefers a given class.
- A "--" indicates that a character of that race may choose that class, though such a choice would be atypical for a member of that race.
- A "No" indicates that a character of that race cannot select that particular class without their DM's approval, as a character with that race and class combination is exceedingly rare.

Starting Skills by Race

The following table shows what skills (including Languages) your character gains at the start of play based upon their chosen race.

Race	Starting Skills
Dwarf	Languages (Common and Dwarven), Profession (Miner)
Elf	Languages (Common and Elven)
Gnome	Languages (Common and Gnomish), Profession (Miner)
Half-Elf	Languages (Common and Elven)
Halfling	Languages (Common and Halfling)
Half-Orc	Languages (Common and Orcish)
Human	Languages (Common) plus any 2 skills

Choose a Class

Each of the 11 classes has unique abilities and areas of expertise:

- Assassins are experts at quickly dispatching targeted enemies and accomplished spies.
- Barbarians are mighty berserkers and braves from savage lands who distrust magic and rely on their instincts to avoid danger.
- Bards are lore masters and warrior-poets who influence others with their words.
- Clerics are avowed to a deity and act as defenders of their faith.
- Druids owe allegiance to the elemental powers of the world.
- Fighters are versatile and highly-trained warriors with great prowess at arms.
- Magic-Users are practitioners of powerful arcane magics.
- Monks are ascetic masters of unarmed combat, dedicated to the perfection of mind and body.
- Paladins are paragons of good charged with combating evil.
- Rangers are woodsmen and hunters of their peoples' foes.
- Thieves are stealthy opportunists, who rely upon skill and guile.

Choose an Alignment

Lawful Good (LG) creatures can be counted on to do the right thing as expected by society. Gold dragons, paladins, and most dwarves are lawful good.

Neutral Good (NG) folk do the best they can to help others according to their needs. Many celestials, some cloud giants, and most gnomes are neutral good.

Chaotic Good (CG) creatures act to help others as their conscience directs, with little regard for what others expect. Copper dragons, many elves, and unicorns are chaotic good.

Lawful Neutral (LN) individuals act in accordance with law, tradition, or personal codes. Many monks and some magic-users are lawful neutral.

Neutral (N) is the alignment of those who prefer to steer clear of moral questions and don't take sides, doing what seems best at the time. Lizardmen, most druids, and many humans are neutral.

Chaotic Neutral (CN) creatures follow their whims, holding their personal freedom above all else. Many barbarians and thieves, and some bards, are chaotic neutral.

Lawful Evil (LE) creatures methodically take what they want, within the limits of a code of tradition, loyalty, or order. Devils, blue dragons, and hobgoblins are lawful evil.

Neutral Evil (NE) is the alignment of those who do whatever they can get away with, without compassion or qualms. Many drow, some cloud giants, and yugoloths are neutral evil.

Chaotic Evil (CE) creatures act with arbitrary violence, spurred by their greed, hatred, or bloodlust. Demons, red dragons, and orcs are chaotic evil.

(any), Persuasion, Profession (any), or Survival. Clerics may get an additional skill proficiency, depending upon their chosen domain.

Fleshing Out the Character

The most important step in character generation comes last: detailing the character's persona. The player fleshes out the details of the character's personality, physical description, world view, religious belief, background, goals and motivations – including the moral "alignment" best suited to the character's personality.

After this the character determines their starting skills, which reflects his interests and upbringing, and determines their starting funds. Using these funds, the player equips his character with clothing, armor, weapons, and other adventuring gear.

Background Skill

In addition to the starting skills that your character gets from their chosen race and class, all characters may choose 1 skill based upon the character's life before taking up as an adventurer. This background skill must be a Craft, Language, Performance, or Profession skill.

Skills

All characters begin play with whatever skills they receive from their chosen race and character class, plus their chosen background skill.

Gods of Greyhawk

The gods of Greyhawk come from at least four different pantheons, representing the faiths of the various ethnic groups that populated the continent of Oerik over the ages. As a result, there's a great deal of overlap in their portfolios: Pelor is the Flan god of the sun and Pholtus is the Oeridian sun god, for example.

Human Character Birthplaces

The following chart may be used to determine the birthplace of human characters. It should be noted that the chart favors those locations where the "most common alignment(s)" is non-evil. Bands of adventurers who are evil can be put together, of course, but since most modules and campaigns are designed for non-evils, the chart is designed with that in mind.

A birthplace chart will give the name of a general location. Either the DM or the player (if the DM prefers) can then select an exact site from the province/country or from the bordering forests or hills.

Demihuman Birthplaces

If a character is of one of the demihuman races, use the table below to determine birthplace. Half-elves are treated as elves or humans (at the player's discretion); half-orcs appear where humans and humanoids (specifically orcs) reside.
